

I had the pleasure of experiencing Debbie present an inspirational service at the Religious Science Church in Bakersfield this morning. The people there were kind, energetic and compassionate, and Debbie's message had just the flavor they were hungry for. Her message included many subjects but its primary content revolved around our intentions for the upcoming new year. Her composure was relaxed yet professional. She kept her subject clear and every once in a while would bring the audience to laugh with a subtle joke. For me, it was worth the trip. I look forward to sharing more with each of you the next time we meet. Until then, have a joyous and happy next years eve.

Blessings of Grace,

Tim
